```
Run Model
                                                                 Get Results
   Prepare Inputs
  # Python
                           results = model(
                                                              e, f = results
  args = \dots
                                *args, kwargs)
  kwargs = ...
// CPython
                                                           e = PyTuple GetItem(
PyObject* args;
                       PyObject *results, *id = ...;
                                                               results, 0);
PyObject* kwargs;
                     > results = PyObject Call(
                                                           f = PyTuple GetItem( id, args, kwargs);
args = ...;
                                                               results, 1);
kwarqs = ...;
// pybind11
                       py::object model = CAST(id);
py::tuple args;
                       py::object results =
                                                                e = t[0];
py::dict kwargs;
                           model(*args, kwargs);
                                                                f = t[1];
args = ...;
                       py::tuple t = CAST(results);
kwargs = ...;
```